LOCAL GRID TEAMS ARE SET FOR BATTLE

INTRODUCING SEVERAL MORE MAROON STARS

Local Fans Will be Kept Busy Watching Pottsville Stars in Action When They Play Blue Comets Here Tuesday

Here is a means of introducing a few more of the Pottsville Maroons who will be well to watch when they appear against the Shamokin Blue Comets at the Edgewood field on Tuesday afternoon.

Gates fellows have made their names known throughout the football sphere and they have gained national reputation not only because of their college record but also because of their achievements on the professional gridiron. Read on and illuminate your brain capacity.

Big Jim Welsh, the Maroon tackle, whose 250 pounds rest as easily upon a massive frame as do the wrinkles on a 40-year-old flapper, learned his football at Colgate. Dick Harlow, whose ability as a coach turned out many pro gridders used him at guard and as an interferer while at Colgate, and got him so fast that he could easily keep up with the 175-pound backfield men in the scrimmages. He weighed 274 when he commenced training this year and his immense weight has stood him in good stead as a goal hoster, his record being without a miss this year. He booted a field goal at Chicago last year from the 35-yard line a record for the National league. He is too beat Columbus in the initial game this year and he has not missed a goal from touchdown in a league game this year.

Russ Hathaway, the other wingman is a graf of the University of Indiana and tips the beam at 240. His first pro experience was with the Dayton Triangles where he earned the title "Three point Hathaway" as he was almost always sure of a field goal when needed. His speed is not interfered with by his immense bulk and he gets down under kicks with amazing speed.

Heine Jawish, the third member of the tackle squad is a product of Georgetown university and is now playing his first year in pro ball. Some what lighter than his two running mates he weighs but 230 but is aggressive and a surprisingly fast man under kicks and after the runner. His knowledge of the game was imparted by Lou Little, and he is known as a ball hawk, being after the ball in every fumble. He combines the best attributes of the Syrian and American athlete.

Tony Latone, probably one of the most popular backs who ever donned the moleskin was born at Pringle, Ill. and played his first games at Kingston, near Wilkes-Barre. He played full for the Kingston Elks and was the leading scorer for his club. He also played with the Lithuanian Knights at Edwardsville, another semi-pro team. He enlisted in 1918 and was sent to the U. S. Naval air station at Norfolk, Va. He was discharged in 1919 and returned to the mines, later returning to football when he became a member of the Shenandoah Yellow Jackets, the Mt. Carmel team and the Wilkes-Barre Panthers. He joined Pottsville in October of 1924 and immediately became a favorite with the Pottsville fans. He played with such stars at Harry Robb of Penn State, Carl Beck of West Virginia, Bobo Brunner, Barney Wentz and Tony Marherka. Last year he was again with Pottsville and was instrumental in bringing the world's championship to that city.

Frank Nielsen of Akron, Ohio, a former Washington and Jefferson product is one of the best backfield men in the Maroon lineup being equally good at either quarter or half. He spent one year in the backfield with the Akron club of the National league and is known as one of the speediest backs on the Pottsville team. He played a wonderful game at Brooklyn this year making several long end runs and taking the tackles with startling regularity.

LAFAYETTE AND W. & J. PLAY TODAY

Two Undefeated Teams of East Will Struggle For Supremacy on Franklin Field

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30—Lafayette college and Washington & Jefferson, two of the few undefeated college elevens in the east, will meet here this afternoon on Franklin field in a game that will put one or the other out of the running for the mythical championship.

Each team has won five straight games. The Presidents have scored impressive victories over Bucknell, Carnegie Tech and Fordham, while Lafayette's best is a decisive victory over the University of Pittsburgh.

Today's game is expected to be a battle of star backs with Bill Amos, doing the work for the Presidents and Kirleski and Wilson for Lafayette. All three are in the running for All-American honors. Wilson, though only a sophomore, is third individual scorer in the east.

This will be the ninth meeting of the two institutions since the first game was played in 1895. Of the eight, the Presidents have won four and Lafayette three. The 1923 game, on the Polo Grounds, ended in a 6-6 tie. This also is the first time the teams have met in this city.

This was a holiday for students at Lafayette and W. & J. and virtually every member of the two student bodies, accompanied by hundreds of townspeople, are here for the game.

STAR GUN CLUB READY FOR HUNT

Members of the Star Gun club of Springfield, after spending a few weeks making reservations for a hunting area in which to follow the routine of a sporting hunter, have succeeded to that effect and will motor tomorrow to Freeburg in Snyder county. Preparations with the needy supplies consisted to take them completely over a course of their stay have successfully been made.

Stanley Seroskie, president of the club, and Flory Gabrish, have, in the past months, scoured the surrounding territory in search of the best grounds that can be afforded and will have two of the best in the game scoring for their prey on the happy hunting grounds. It is said. The almost rusty matchlocks of one year's retreat from the field of hard have carefully been altered and the provision kit is well filled with the necessary food supply.

Those comprising the party of hunters from the club are these official members: Stanley Seroskie, Joseph Jamsible, Flory Gabrish and Frank Blasco.

The Star Gun club was organized two years ago and its membership is fast increasing, thus putting that section of the city on the map as a first rate sporting community.

GREB LEAVES $75,000 ESTATE TO DAUGHTER

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion, left an estate of $75,000, according to his will filed for probate here yesterday afternoon. The entire sum goes to his seven-year-old daughter, Dorothy.

No real estate was listed in the will. It is understood Greb disposed of her property several months ago. Mrs. Ida Edwards, a sister was named executrix of the will, and also guardian of Greb's child.

GREYHOUNDS WILL BATTLE AT STEELTON

Maroon and Grey Outfit Will Enter the Contest on Short End of Odds

Hoping to smash the dope to smithereens, twenty-five members of the Shamokin high school squad, accompanied by their coaches, managers and followers, embarked for Steelton this morning, where the Greyhounds will battle the steel workers this afternoon.

By virtue of their records of the two elevens, the Steelton outfit is rated a heavy favorite to win the contest. However, Coach Hall is hoping the home outfit will be too overconfident and that his boys will be able to get some breaks and probably have more than an even chance.

The Maroon and Grey mentor was very much in doubt as to who would be in the linup at the opening kickoff. Injuries have wreaked havoc with his men and there is a great possibility that some of the second string men will be called upon to start the fray.

The ends may be Hoffman, Densevich or Tehonsky. Ruskie will not be able to break into the action because his leg, which he injured in the Wilkes-Barre game, is not ready for any heavy work.

Tehansky has been playing in the backfield but he is not and a good tackler and Coach Hall tried him out on the terminal position during the past few days and he seems to be coming along very nicely.

The tackle jobs are also very doubtful. Lee and Henninger may start, although the former is not fully recovered from an injured shoulder. If he is not used, it is problematical just who will be in the berth.

Rodenberger will be at one of the guard positions, but Coach Hall did not known who he would start at the other. Bixler, Nash and Martz may be given an opportunity for the job, with the chances of "Smiley" Snellets standing a chance.

The backfield will probably start with Oates, Williams, Woland and Colten.

The students had another big pep meeting at the high school building yesterday afternoon and the they showed that they were behind the team to a man. Quite a few students made the trip and will cheer their team on to victory.

ILLINOIS AND PENN ARE READY

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 30—The University of Pennsylvania's hopes for a place in the Rose bowl sun depend upon its showing this afternoon, when Captain Thayer and his teammates meet the University of Illinois on the local gridiron.

Close to seventy thousand persons are expected to view the contest, the second between the two universities. Last year on Franklin field, Illinois defeated Pennsylvania 21 to 2, after the Pennsylvanians had defeated Brown, Yale and Chicago in succession.

Pennsylvania will again enter the game undefeated. Its imposing victories over Franklin and Marshall, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore, Chicago and Williams has given Lou Young's team a high rating in eastern circles.

Illinois until last Saturday, had a clean slate. Michigan which last year defeated Zuppke's eleven, registered a 13 to 0 triumph last Saturday.

The Pennsylvania team worked out at the local stadium, with Charles Rogers in the backfield. The brilliant star of the Pennsylvania attack who has gained 675 yards since the beginning of the season was confined to bed for two days with a gastro-intestinal attack.

The "four magicians" of the Pennsylvania backfield will start against Illinois. Murphy will be at quarterback, Rogers and Scull at halves and Wacenigan at fullback. Illinois will start Lanum, at quarterback, Stewart and Peters at the halves and Dunlevy at fullback.

BUCKNELL STUDENTS WILL GO TO STATE GAME

LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 30 — A special train will carry Bucknell university students and football fans to State College for the Bucknell-State-Bison game on November 13, it was announced here today by Dayton Ranck, university comptroller, who is looking after athletic affairs in the absence of Athletic Manager B. W. Griffith.

The State-Bucknell game is a feature of the annual "Pennsylvania Day" at State College this year and is one of the heaviest attractions for this section. The two teams have not met since 1919, when State won, 9 to 6.

The Bisons play Haskell at Lawrence, Kansas, this afternoon in one of the leading intersectional games of the day. Haskell has been a fast-

Sharkey Best Foe for Tunney

(By Roy Grove)

Now it is only natural that the conquerors of Dempsey and Wills should meet.

Sharkey was no setup.

Still many regret that he cannot hit harder. Maybe he can, but he doesn't. Jack says so himself, in just those many words. "I don't get knocked out and I don't try to knock anybody out." There is a certain zest in his humanity.

After that we look into the record and see that Jack Sharkey, alias Mr. Cuccoboro, of the navy, Lithuania and Boston, Mass., born in Binghamton, N. Y., in 1902, has only been knocked out once and that through the mitts of one Ernesto Rojas in Boston two years ago.

Jack was stopped in nine rounds. Jack has always entered his activities in and about Boston where he has won from the best men in the heavyweight division.

Sharkey's record is most impressive when one gets into it. Two years ago he met and defeated Floyd Johnson, no mean opponent; Jim Maloney, a Boston rival; Jack Renault, King Solomon and lastly the heavy rated George Godfrey in 10 rounds.

Johnny Risko was another he left on the short end along with Al Roberts and Homer Smith.

Sharkey's losing decisions were to Jack Dempsey and Bob Gorman. He has knockouts over Billy Mladoon, in seven rounds, Pat Hace in seven, Jim Lorenzo, and Eddie Rosard in seven stanzas.

A match between Sharkey and Tunney would be one of intense interest, although Sharkey has never been rated as a hard hitter. He has depended on his own cleverness and boxing skill to put him over. He jungles the hardest hitters and the fastest boxers in the same easy style.

His style at times has been rather tiresome.

He takes his good old time about getting to his man, even so much that he looks as if he were stalling. This happened in his bout with Eddie Huffman several months ago when the boxing commission held up his money thinking he was throwing the fight to Huffman.

In defeating Wills we don't know whether to hand it to the old adage of "youth will be served," or whether Jack is beginning more determined to reach Tunney and the heavyweight crown. The game certainly is a match.

Tunney is as hard to figure as Sharkey. Dempsey would settle the question in a 10-round bout with Jack.

As Sharkey showed his gameness in wading into George Godfrey, the giant negro, and also in stepping in to Harry Wills when he knew that Wills would hold and hit. These foul tactics of the country's foremost shaded contender held no fear for Mr. Cuccoboro, of the navy, Lithuania and Boston, Mass.

We hand it to Sharkey for being able to take the righthand punch of Harry Wills, whether Harry is 10 or 100 years old.

Wills practically murdered his opponents with this punch, as was the case of Firpo. Harry stopped poor Floyd Johnson with terrific body blows in less than one round. Charley Weinert lasted two rounds with Wills. He nearly broke Charley in two with body blows.

Sharkey received no little number of Harry Wills' righthand belts to the kidneys while Wills kept the Boston lad sewed up with his pawing left wound around Jack's waist line. With that punch Wills is murderous and on ordinary opponents, where he has used it, they lasted just as long as Wills wanted them to last.

These blows, although barred, were dealt unofficially on Starkey, who showed no signs of a wince when he received them.

Jack is able to stand a good wallop as easily as he is able to outsmart outboxs and punch to win.

HANDSOME FIREMEN'S MEMORIAL UNVEILED

member of the volunteer firemen's organization in the state was then introduced as "a friend of the firemen" by Attorney Morgantoth.

"There is no greater citizen in the country today than the volunteer fireman," he said. "He goes where duty calls at any hour of the day and any day of the year and fills the greatest obligation of a real American." He then exploited the deeds of the firemen during the World war and the ready response that was noted in their ranks.

United States Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, directing his speech to the children assembled about the stand, brought home to them the spirit in which the monument had been erected and which he implored to carry into posterity. Addressing them he said:

"You boys and girls who are here today to view the unveiling of this monument to the deceased members of the Volunteer Firemen's association of Shamokin, I want you each day that you pass on your way to and from school, to remember as you gaze on this structure that it is a monument to those who each day are willing to risk their lives for you and your homes."

The senator, as avowed "wet" on the floor of the senate and one of the leaders for modification of the prohibition amendment, then supplied the only levity to mark the occasion, when, referring to the downpour of rain which was increasing as he took the stand, he remarked: "This is a wet platform and it agrees with me for it is never too wet for me."

A short talk was then given by Chief Burgess Dr. A. G. Shiesler.

Following the speeches, Mrs. Erm E. Beadle, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, stepped to the monument, and after a few appropriate remarks, pulled the string, officially unveiling the monument, which will stand through posterity as a mark of esteem for the departed members of the volunteer firemen of the community.

As she released the draperies that crowned the heroic granite statue of a fireman in the position of directing a stream of water on a blaze, the presidents of each of the fire companies in Shamokin stepped to the front of the stand and each released a white dove. This was done as a mark of respect for the departed members.

Rev. William F. Boyle, pastor of St. Joseph's church then said the benediction bringing the memorable occasion to a close.

The monument, gracing the park plot at the intersection of Market and Independence streets, is a work of art, recognized as among the best of its kind in the state. Designers who have seen the piece declare it is ideal for the purpose to which it will serve. It will stand as a silent tribute to the volunteer firemen's organization of the community and one of which the residents generally can feel justifiably proud.

ENGAGEMENT OF WELL KNOWN YOUNG FOLKS IS ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the engagement of Esther Fisher and Lorain Drumbeiser was made last night at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drumbeiser on West Arch street, the date for the wedding being November 14. They were roundly congratulated by their guests, after which a pleasing repast was served.

Those present were: Misses Esther Fisher, Florence Fisher, Helen Walburn, Ruth Strausser, Cathryn Drumbeiser, Goldie Walburn, Laura Walburn, Margaret Klinger, Mildred Taylor, Martha Herr, Gertrude Rodenberger, Messrs. Herbert Heitz, Thomas Smeltzer, John Smeltzer, Foster Dilliplane, Milton Dideon, Charles Blue, Marvin Drumbeiser, Lorain Drumbeiser and Mr. and Mrs. Drumbeiser.

VISITED FRIENDS; ARRESTED AND HELD IN BAIL FOR COURT

Andrew Sumelatis, resident of Mt. Carmel, deserted his family in Mt. Carmel and went to Tamaqua to live but he couldn't resist the desire to visit with old friends and accordingly is now being held under $800 bail by Justice of the Peace Cutlon for trial at criminal court.

Sumelatis, it was learned yesterday by constable Fendrick, was in Tamaqua and the constable started for that place to locate the man and bail him on the non-support charge.

Arriving at Tamaqua Constable Fendrick learned that Sumalatis was visiting friends in Mt. Carmel. The man was picked up in a saloon at that place, brought here, given a hearing and held for the next term of court.

MISSES SCOTT ARE HOSTESSES AT HALLOWEEN PARTY

Misses Betty and Ruth Scott tendered a Halloween party to a few of their friends Friday evening at their home, 828 North Sixth street. Refreshments were served. The usual decorations for the occasion were in order and music and other activities were indulged in. Those present were: Rose Mary Fedral, Clara Gearhart, Clara Raisdo, Betty Kenger, Rita McGlynn, Lois Wagenhurst, Ida Van Devender, Allen Edmonds, Robert Mack, Mack Welker, William Parks, Elizabeth Schnell, Jimmy Rees, Daniel Dehber, Howard Mitchell, Jean McFee, Edith McFee, Harriet McFee, Louise Edwards, Lance and Pauline Edwards, Phroney Shaw, Miriam McConnell, Doris Zimmerman, Lois Zimmerman, Louis Rumberger, Catherine Martini, Vivian Johns, Betty and Ruth Scott.

More than $50,000,000 of American-made automobile parts and accessories were sent to other countries in the past six months.

TOWNTHIP HI OFF TO BATTLE WITH LYKENS

Purple and White Will Be Minus Services of Kobilis and Shaw, Tackles

Girded and ready for battle, the Coal township high school gridiron outfit left for Lykens this morning where the Purple and White will meet the Lykens high team on the field of combat this afternoon.

The township team was weakened by the loss of its two regular tackles, "Smoky" Ed Kobilis and "Captain Kid" Bill Shaw. Just how much their absence will harm the eleven will be answered only in due time.

To meet the loss of these men, Coach Fitzpatrick has three stars who are ready to step into the breach. Peek, Dormer and Slazenski will be used at the berths and it is felt that they will come through in good style.

The following lineup is practically certain to be used at the start of the game: Drill and T. Yeeraskie, ends; Peek, Dormer and Mazzaki, tackles; Belz and Miller, guards; Castetter, center; Sanders, quarterback; Zabloky and Kazinskie, halfbacks; Marquette, fullback.

Lykens is reported to have its customary strong team and the Purple and White will have no soft picking if it hopes to come out on the long end of the score.

Coach Fitzpatrick has warned his men about overconfidence, especially with the absence of the two varsity tackles. The township lads are ready to step in and add another victory to the list.

The new uniforms which were ordered have arrived but they will not be used until next week, when the Mahanoy City team plays here. The outfits are said to be very attractive and have all the features which the college uniforms possess.

BLUE COMETS IMPROVING IN AERIAL WORK

Major Blake Shifts Tyson and Phillips to Terminal Posts and New Men Make Very Good Impression

Looking forward primarily to the Pottsville game on Tuesday afternoon which will take place at the Edgewood park, Major John K. Blake, coach of the Shamokin Blue Comets, is continuing to develop the aerial attack of the local boys. He firmly believes that this will be the only method by which the Comets will have an opportunity to gain any ground and he is very desirous that they understand all the plays fully.

The major is not overlooking the game with the Shenandoah eleven which will take place tomorrow afternoon, but he is willing to sacrifice the showing in that contest for the struggle with the champions.

He is not so foolish as to predict a victory but he is willing to state that the Maroons will not be running away with the Comets as many are prone to believe. The home lads are filled with the desire to prove that they are capable of playing a pro team and not receive a soaping.

Long and short passes, interspersed with a few trick plays, constituted the greater part of the practice session yesterday afternoon. The major has been gradually getting his men in the form where they are sparing the braves with creditable regularity and some of the catches are simply the result of endless toil and unstinted effort.

In order to meet the end situation and place men on the terminal posts who are able to grab the pigskin while they are on the full run, Coach Blake tried out Tyson, who was formerly working for the centre post, and Phillips, a backfield candidate. Both these men showed uncanny ability in pulling in the oval and it would not be surprising if one or both were given a chance in the game on Sunday.

If they appear to have the goods they may be given the call in the Pottsville game. If they are used permanently at the post, the Comets will have seven ends, namely, Fagley, J. Richardson, D. Richardson, Kaleda, Kaczmanski, Phillips and Tyson. From this group there should be at least two or three who will be suited ideally for the post.

There is a dearth of backfield men so that Phillips and Nickels could be spared from that sector to the forward line. There will be no end of backs for use and that department will not suffer to any great extent although Nickels and Fry are good ball toters.

BUFFALO TO COMBAT POTTSVILLE

The Buffalo National league football team, composed of Texas and Oklahoma stars principally and known as the Buffalo Rangers instead of the Texas Rangers, will oppose the Pottsville Maroons at the Minersville park tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock.

The Buffalo team is essentially a traveling organization which lost several league games through the breaks which went to the other teams and as they have played together for the past two years and have some of the best former college talent in the country to the fore, including several All-America stars of the Walter Camp variety, they will give the Maroons a very hard battle to hold their place in the league standing.

Buffalo, like all the other teams which have visited Pottsville during the season, is pointing for Pottsville and will make an effort to humble last year's champions if it is in their ability. "Mule" Wilson and Jim Kendrick in the backfield and Joe Wilson, last year U. of P. captain, form the nucleus of a powerful team which uses a diversified and open attack with excellent results. This will be the first time this year that a really novel offense has been witnessed at the Minersville park and a good game is expected to result.

Coach Rauch will likely start Bennett, Brown and Millman in the Pottsville backfield.
